

Belmont University School of Music
Invites you to join us for a
Music Education Workshop

World Music Drumming:

Including All Students in Music Through
African, Caribbean, and Latin Drumming Ensembles

Saturday, January 19th, 2013
Belmont University's Neely Hall [bldg 4 on campus map]*
9:00am-3:30pm.

$10 fee (music teachers)

If possible, please bring a drum (any size or kind).
All participants will be playing and responding during the workshop.

Clinician:

James Thomas Mader
(Music Educator, Clinician, Percussionist)

James was selected as one of 20 teachers in US and Canada to pilot Will Schmid's WORLD MUSIC DRUMMING CURRICULUM--an innovative cross-cultural curriculum aimed at raising student's life skills--listening, respect, cooperation, teamwork, and communication. He conducts workshops throughout the United States in cooperative teamwork and multiculturalism through music and drumming.

For further information, contact workshop coordinator,

Deen Entsminger:
deen.entsminger@belmont.edu

615-460-8207

Go to Belmont University website (www.belmont.edu). Click on "Visit Us", then scroll down to campus maps. Bldg #4 is at the top of the map toward the left*